

Equal Opportunities

Co-operative ways of working should be developed.

Relationships between all who work in nursery should give evidence of openness to different perceptions and a willingness to listen and consult.

The variety of ethnic groups that constitute British society should be represented in visual displays and other information given to the children.

All ethnic groups should be treated as individuals with every variety of human quality and attribute.

Wherever possible the experiences of pupils and staff should be extended by arranging visits or by using equipment that exemplifies a culturally diverse society.

Instances of racial prejudice or abuse should always be treated seriously and appropriate corrective measures taken.

The range of toys, equipment and learning experiences provided should reflect the equal opportunities policy with regards to race and gender stereotyping.

To be an equal opportunities employer, actively encouraging applications from ethnic minority individuals.
